

CLOSING RATES
Yesterday of cotton and gold:
New York cotton, 11 1/2. Memphis cotton, 10 1/2. New York gold, 111. Memphis gold, 110 1/2.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.
WASH. DEPT. OF COM. OFFICE
WASHINGTON, July 19, 1876.
For the Gulf States, Tennessee and Ohio valley, generally clear and warm weather with occasional light easterly to southerly winds, and slight changes in barometer.

The sundry civil appropriation bill was discussed by the Democratic members of the house in caucus yesterday.

The majority report of the house committee on naval affairs strongly commends the course of Secretary Robeson in transferring government funds to Jay Cook, McCullough & Co. at London.

COLONEL MORRIS WHITE, of Knoxville, well known in Memphis, where he resided for many years, is to be brought forward as a candidate for election to the second congressional district, and the convention to be held in Nashville on the 10th of August.

In the senate, yesterday, Senator Boutwell denied the statements in the Democratic platform that the late secretary of the treasury (Boutwell) had forced balances in the public accounts. Senator Davis charged that the figures had been changed, and he was prepared to show it.

We publish elsewhere this morning two interviews by press correspondents with Governor Hendricks, from which it will be seen that he denies emphatically the statement published in the New York Commercial Advertiser, that differences of opinion had arisen between himself and Governor Tilden.

EVEN "our minister to England"—Pierpont—can see that Durey B. Thomas is wrong; that we are not all bankrupt, and that the country is prosperous. In his speech to the Liverpool merchants' committee sent to greet him on his arrival in England, he said: "America was never so rich in its products, so numerous in its population, nor with such materials for wealth and prosperity as now, and its depression arose only from that lack of confidence which was owing to the great expansion and excitement. Men of capital were now unwilling to embark in any long term enterprise, but before many months had passed, and the pending election was over, the people, he was convinced, would recommence their activities, and new prospects for the benefit of the two countries would arise."

The Democratic State convention, which is to meet at Jefferson City, Missouri, to-day, has brought to light, as we learn by telegraph, the largest crowd of delegates and outside workers than many years. Every county in the State will be represented. The number of candidates for the different offices is unusually large, there being six for governor, seven for secretary of state, eight for treasurer, five for attorney-general, six for supreme judge, and thirty-five for railroad commissioners, only three of whom are to be elected. Among the prominent candidates for governor are: James H. Campbell, of St. Louis; George W. Price, Geo. G. West, and Jas. S. Phelps, a prominent congressman before the war. It is believed that Phelps is the strongest of the candidates before the convention, and that he is likely to be nominated.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

London, July 18: Alexander Russell, noted writer, is dead.

Madison, Wis., July 18: A prominent liquor merchant, died this morning.

London, July 18: Francis Hart Dyke, prosecutor-general, died yesterday from injuries received by a fall from his horse.

London, July 18: A prominent politician of Bradford, died yesterday. Liable, six thousand five hundred pounds sterling.

Berlin, July 18: The weekly statement of the Imperial treasury shows a decrease of thirteen million seven hundred and twelve thousand marks.

St. Louis, July 18: A fire in the porkhouse of Bassel, Lincoln, last night, damaged meat to the extent of about twenty thousand dollars. Fully insured.

St. Louis, July 18: Bud Lane, deputy marshal of Leavenworth, Kansas, shot and killed John Morton, on Saturday last, for an alleged too great intimacy with his wife.

New Castle, N. B., July 18: George Barrell's steam mill and several dwellings at Nelson were burned yesterday. The loss is estimated at about thirty-five thousand dollars.

Little Rock, July 18: A colored man named Brooks dropped dead to-day, over the planks where he was at work, of a Conningham's mill. Heart disease was said to be the cause.

Montgomery, July 18: The Spencer and anti-Spencer Republican factions have withdrawn their State tickets and united on the ticket headed by N. Woodruff, the present mayor of Selma.

Rochester, N. Y., July 18: The Bank of Fairport closed this morning. Henry E. Walcott, the proprietor, was at St. Louis three weeks ago. The deposits in the bank amount to about twenty-five thousand dollars. Other liabilities not stated.

Boston, July 18: A number of prominent Boston ladies have purchased the old South church building, and if they cannot raise the amount required to purchase the land in sixty days, they will take down the building and re-erect it elsewhere.

Cincinnati, July 18: The entire portion of the town of Demosville, Kentucky, a station on the Kentucky Central railroad, was burned at two o'clock this morning. The most important losses are a store, dwelling and a large warehouse containing twenty thousand dollars worth of wool, belonging to J. M. Stevens, and Dr. M. H. H. Stevens' residence. Stevens' loss is thirty thousand dollars; insured for seven thousand dollars in the Union.

New York, July 18: It is understood that in order to meet certain arrangements made by the New York Central railroad company, one of the last freight lines running over the Pennsylvania railroad has further reduced their rates to twenty cents per one hundred pounds for first, second and third-class freight from New York to Chicago, and fifteen cents per one hundred pounds for fourth and special classes, in lots of not less than five thousand pounds each. Contracts have also been made by this line at these rates to last until fall.

CONGRESS.

Stirring Debate in the Senate on the Appropriation Bill—The Radicals Hodge for Political Purposes.

Morton, on Republicanism, is Met and Answered by Merriam, of North Carolina, who Defends the Democratic Party.

Storrs Debate in the House in Committee of the Whole Over the Bill to Protect the Texas Frontier.

Passage of Arms Between Cox and Townsend—Sensible and Patriotic Speech by Lamar, of Mississippi—Etc.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

After the disposal of routine business, the morning hour having expired, the senate adjourned until the afternoon session, the debate on the appropriation bill, the pending question, being on motion of Senator Thurman to recommend the bill to the committee on appropriations, with instructions to report a bill reducing the aggregate amount for the improvement of the Texas frontier to a sum not to exceed four million dollars.

Senator Merriam made a speech denouncing the house from the imputations thrown out yesterday by several senators that the bill was framed in such a way as to secure the expenditure of money in doubtful districts, to secure them to that party. He showed where large sums had been appropriated for works in Republican districts.

Senator Sherman asked single reform had the Democratic party accomplished since 1860, and said he could show fifty for the Republican party.

Senator Merriam would not let his friend to name one single good act of any kind that the Democratic party has done within twenty-five years. [Applause.]

Senator Merriam said that in the years preceding the war there was nothing on his arrival in England, he said: "America was never so rich in its products, so numerous in its population, nor with such materials for wealth and prosperity as now, and its depression arose only from that lack of confidence which was owing to the great expansion and excitement. Men of capital were now unwilling to embark in any long term enterprise, but before many months had passed, and the pending election was over, the people, he was convinced, would recommence their activities, and new prospects for the benefit of the two countries would arise."

The Democratic State convention, which is to meet at Jefferson City, Missouri, to-day, has brought to light, as we learn by telegraph, the largest crowd of delegates and outside workers than many years. Every county in the State will be represented. The number of candidates for the different offices is unusually large, there being six for governor, seven for secretary of state, eight for treasurer, five for attorney-general, six for supreme judge, and thirty-five for railroad commissioners, only three of whom are to be elected. Among the prominent candidates for governor are: James H. Campbell, of St. Louis; George W. Price, Geo. G. West, and Jas. S. Phelps, a prominent congressman before the war. It is believed that Phelps is the strongest of the candidates before the convention, and that he is likely to be nominated.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

London, July 18: Alexander Russell, noted writer, is dead.

Madison, Wis., July 18: A prominent liquor merchant, died this morning.

London, July 18: Francis Hart Dyke, prosecutor-general, died yesterday from injuries received by a fall from his horse.

London, July 18: A prominent politician of Bradford, died yesterday. Liable, six thousand five hundred pounds sterling.

Berlin, July 18: The weekly statement of the Imperial treasury shows a decrease of thirteen million seven hundred and twelve thousand marks.

St. Louis, July 18: A fire in the porkhouse of Bassel, Lincoln, last night, damaged meat to the extent of about twenty thousand dollars. Fully insured.

St. Louis, July 18: Bud Lane, deputy marshal of Leavenworth, Kansas, shot and killed John Morton, on Saturday last, for an alleged too great intimacy with his wife.

New Castle, N. B., July 18: George Barrell's steam mill and several dwellings at Nelson were burned yesterday. The loss is estimated at about thirty-five thousand dollars.

Little Rock, July 18: A colored man named Brooks dropped dead to-day, over the planks where he was at work, of a Conningham's mill. Heart disease was said to be the cause.

Montgomery, July 18: The Spencer and anti-Spencer Republican factions have withdrawn their State tickets and united on the ticket headed by N. Woodruff, the present mayor of Selma.

Rochester, N. Y., July 18: The Bank of Fairport closed this morning. Henry E. Walcott, the proprietor, was at St. Louis three weeks ago. The deposits in the bank amount to about twenty-five thousand dollars. Other liabilities not stated.

Boston, July 18: A number of prominent Boston ladies have purchased the old South church building, and if they cannot raise the amount required to purchase the land in sixty days, they will take down the building and re-erect it elsewhere.

Cincinnati, July 18: The entire portion of the town of Demosville, Kentucky, a station on the Kentucky Central railroad, was burned at two o'clock this morning. The most important losses are a store, dwelling and a large warehouse containing twenty thousand dollars worth of wool, belonging to J. M. Stevens, and Dr. M. H. H. Stevens' residence. Stevens' loss is thirty thousand dollars; insured for seven thousand dollars in the Union.

New York, July 18: It is understood that in order to meet certain arrangements made by the New York Central railroad company, one of the last freight lines running over the Pennsylvania railroad has further reduced their rates to twenty cents per one hundred pounds for first, second and third-class freight from New York to Chicago, and fifteen cents per one hundred pounds for fourth and special classes, in lots of not less than five thousand pounds each. Contracts have also been made by this line at these rates to last until fall.

CONGRESS.

Stirring Debate in the Senate on the Appropriation Bill—The Radicals Hodge for Political Purposes.

Morton, on Republicanism, is Met and Answered by Merriam, of North Carolina, who Defends the Democratic Party.

Storrs Debate in the House in Committee of the Whole Over the Bill to Protect the Texas Frontier.

Passage of Arms Between Cox and Townsend—Sensible and Patriotic Speech by Lamar, of Mississippi—Etc.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

After the disposal of routine business, the morning hour having expired, the senate adjourned until the afternoon session, the debate on the appropriation bill, the pending question, being on motion of Senator Thurman to recommend the bill to the committee on appropriations, with instructions to report a bill reducing the aggregate amount for the improvement of the Texas frontier to a sum not to exceed four million dollars.

Senator Merriam made a speech denouncing the house from the imputations thrown out yesterday by several senators that the bill was framed in such a way as to secure the expenditure of money in doubtful districts, to secure them to that party. He showed where large sums had been appropriated for works in Republican districts.

Senator Sherman asked single reform had the Democratic party accomplished since 1860, and said he could show fifty for the Republican party.

Senator Merriam would not let his friend to name one single good act of any kind that the Democratic party has done within twenty-five years. [Applause.]

Senator Merriam said that in the years preceding the war there was nothing on his arrival in England, he said: "America was never so rich in its products, so numerous in its population, nor with such materials for wealth and prosperity as now, and its depression arose only from that lack of confidence which was owing to the great expansion and excitement. Men of capital were now unwilling to embark in any long term enterprise, but before many months had passed, and the pending election was over, the people, he was convinced, would recommence their activities, and new prospects for the benefit of the two countries would arise."

The Democratic State convention, which is to meet at Jefferson City, Missouri, to-day, has brought to light, as we learn by telegraph, the largest crowd of delegates and outside workers than many years. Every county in the State will be represented. The number of candidates for the different offices is unusually large, there being six for governor, seven for secretary of state, eight for treasurer, five for attorney-general, six for supreme judge, and thirty-five for railroad commissioners, only three of whom are to be elected. Among the prominent candidates for governor are: James H. Campbell, of St. Louis; George W. Price, Geo. G. West, and Jas. S. Phelps, a prominent congressman before the war. It is believed that Phelps is the strongest of the candidates before the convention, and that he is likely to be nominated.

The Democratic State convention, which is to meet at Jefferson City, Missouri, to-day, has brought to light, as we learn by telegraph, the largest crowd of delegates and outside workers than many years. Every county in the State will be represented. The number of candidates for the different offices is unusually large, there being six for governor, seven for secretary of state, eight for treasurer, five for attorney-general, six for supreme judge, and thirty-five for railroad commissioners, only three of whom are to be elected. Among the prominent candidates for governor are: James H. Campbell, of St. Louis; George W. Price, Geo. G. West, and Jas. S. Phelps, a prominent congressman before the war. It is believed that Phelps is the strongest of the candidates before the convention, and that he is likely to be nominated.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

London, July 18: Alexander Russell, noted writer, is dead.

Madison, Wis., July 18: A prominent liquor merchant, died this morning.

London, July 18: Francis Hart Dyke, prosecutor-general, died yesterday from injuries received by a fall from his horse.

London, July 18: A prominent politician of Bradford, died yesterday. Liable, six thousand five hundred pounds sterling.

Berlin, July 18: The weekly statement of the Imperial treasury shows a decrease of thirteen million seven hundred and twelve thousand marks.

St. Louis, July 18: A fire in the porkhouse of Bassel, Lincoln, last night, damaged meat to the extent of about twenty thousand dollars. Fully insured.

St. Louis, July 18: Bud Lane, deputy marshal of Leavenworth, Kansas, shot and killed John Morton, on Saturday last, for an alleged too great intimacy with his wife.

New Castle, N. B., July 18: George Barrell's steam mill and several dwellings at Nelson were burned yesterday. The loss is estimated at about thirty-five thousand dollars.

Little Rock, July 18: A colored man named Brooks dropped dead to-day, over the planks where he was at work, of a Conningham's mill. Heart disease was said to be the cause.

Montgomery, July 18: The Spencer and anti-Spencer Republican factions have withdrawn their State tickets and united on the ticket headed by N. Woodruff, the present mayor of Selma.

Rochester, N. Y., July 18: The Bank of Fairport closed this morning. Henry E. Walcott, the proprietor, was at St. Louis three weeks ago. The deposits in the bank amount to about twenty-five thousand dollars. Other liabilities not stated.

Boston, July 18: A number of prominent Boston ladies have purchased the old South church building, and if they cannot raise the amount required to purchase the land in sixty days, they will take down the building and re-erect it elsewhere.

Cincinnati, July 18: The entire portion of the town of Demosville, Kentucky, a station on the Kentucky Central railroad, was burned at two o'clock this morning. The most important losses are a store, dwelling and a large warehouse containing twenty thousand dollars worth of wool, belonging to J. M. Stevens, and Dr. M. H. H. Stevens' residence. Stevens' loss is thirty thousand dollars; insured for seven thousand dollars in the Union.

New York, July 18: It is understood that in order to meet certain arrangements made by the New York Central railroad company, one of the last freight lines running over the Pennsylvania railroad has further reduced their rates to twenty cents per one hundred pounds for first, second and third-class freight from New York to Chicago, and fifteen cents per one hundred pounds for fourth and special classes, in lots of not less than five thousand pounds each. Contracts have also been made by this line at these rates to last until fall.

CONGRESS.

Stirring Debate in the Senate on the Appropriation Bill—The Radicals Hodge for Political Purposes.

Morton, on Republicanism, is Met and Answered by Merriam, of North Carolina, who Defends the Democratic Party.

Storrs Debate in the House in Committee of the Whole Over the Bill to Protect the Texas Frontier.

Passage of Arms Between Cox and Townsend—Sensible and Patriotic Speech by Lamar, of Mississippi—Etc.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

After the disposal of routine business, the morning hour having expired, the senate adjourned until the afternoon session, the debate on the appropriation bill, the pending question, being on motion of Senator Thurman to recommend the bill to the committee on appropriations, with instructions to report a bill reducing the aggregate amount for the improvement of the Texas frontier to a sum not to exceed four million dollars.

Senator Merriam made a speech denouncing the house from the imputations thrown out yesterday by several senators that the bill was framed in such a way as to secure the expenditure of money in doubtful districts, to secure them to that party. He showed where large sums had been appropriated for works in Republican districts.

Senator Sherman asked single reform had the Democratic party accomplished since 1860, and said he could show fifty for the Republican party.

Senator Merriam would not let his friend to name one single good act of any kind that the Democratic party has done within twenty-five years. [Applause.]

Senator Merriam said that in the years preceding the war there was nothing on his arrival in England, he said: "America was never so rich in its products, so numerous in its population, nor with such materials for wealth and prosperity as now, and its depression arose only from that lack of confidence which was owing to the great expansion and excitement. Men of capital were now unwilling to embark in any long term enterprise, but before many months had passed, and the pending election was over, the people, he was convinced, would recommence their activities, and new prospects for the benefit of the two countries would arise."

The Democratic State convention, which is to meet at Jefferson City, Missouri, to-day, has brought to light, as we learn by telegraph, the largest crowd of delegates and outside workers than many years. Every county in the State will be represented. The number of candidates for the different offices is unusually large, there being six for governor, seven for secretary of state, eight for treasurer, five for attorney-general, six for supreme judge, and thirty-five for railroad commissioners, only three of whom are to be elected. Among the prominent candidates for governor are: James H. Campbell, of St. Louis; George W. Price, Geo. G. West, and Jas. S. Phelps, a prominent congressman before the war. It is believed that Phelps is the strongest of the candidates before the convention, and that he is likely to be nominated.

The Democratic State convention, which is to meet at Jefferson City, Missouri, to-day, has brought to light, as we learn by telegraph, the largest crowd of delegates and outside workers than many years. Every county in the State will be represented. The number of candidates for the different offices is unusually large, there being six for governor, seven for secretary of state, eight for treasurer, five for attorney-general, six for supreme judge, and thirty-five for railroad commissioners, only three of whom are to be elected. Among the prominent candidates for governor are: James H. Campbell, of St. Louis; George W. Price, Geo. G. West, and Jas. S. Phelps, a prominent congressman before the war. It is believed that Phelps is the strongest of the candidates before the convention, and that he is likely to be nominated.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

London, July 18: Alexander Russell, noted writer, is dead.

Madison, Wis., July 18: A prominent liquor merchant, died this morning.

London, July 18: Francis Hart Dyke, prosecutor-general, died yesterday from injuries received by a fall from his horse.

London, July 18: A prominent politician of Bradford, died yesterday. Liable, six thousand five hundred pounds sterling.

Berlin, July 18: The weekly statement of the Imperial treasury shows a decrease of thirteen million seven hundred and twelve thousand marks.

St. Louis, July 18: A fire in the porkhouse of Bassel, Lincoln, last night, damaged meat to the extent of about twenty thousand dollars. Fully insured.

St. Louis, July 18: Bud Lane, deputy marshal of Leavenworth, Kansas, shot and killed John Morton, on Saturday last, for an alleged too great intimacy with his wife.

New Castle, N. B., July 18: George Barrell's steam mill and several dwellings at Nelson were burned yesterday. The loss is estimated at about thirty-five thousand dollars.

Little Rock, July 18: A colored man named Brooks dropped dead to-day, over the planks where he was at work, of a Conningham's mill. Heart disease was said to be the cause.

Montgomery, July 18: The Spencer and anti-Spencer Republican factions have withdrawn their State tickets and united on the ticket headed by N. Woodruff, the present mayor of Selma.

Rochester, N. Y., July 18: The Bank of Fairport closed this morning. Henry E. Walcott, the proprietor, was at St. Louis three weeks ago. The deposits in the bank amount to about twenty-five thousand dollars. Other liabilities not stated.

Boston, July 18: A number of prominent Boston ladies have purchased the old South church building, and if they cannot raise the amount required to purchase the land in sixty days, they will take down the building and re-erect it elsewhere.

Cincinnati, July 18: The entire portion of the town of Demosville, Kentucky, a station on the Kentucky Central railroad, was burned at two o'clock this morning. The most important losses are a store, dwelling and a large warehouse containing twenty thousand dollars worth of wool, belonging to J. M. Stevens, and Dr. M. H. H. Stevens' residence. Stevens' loss is thirty thousand dollars; insured for seven thousand dollars in the Union.

New York, July 18: It is understood that in order to meet certain arrangements made by the New York Central railroad company, one of the last freight lines running over the Pennsylvania railroad has further reduced their rates to twenty cents per one hundred pounds for first, second and third-class freight from New York to Chicago, and fifteen cents per one hundred pounds for fourth and special classes, in lots of not less than five thousand pounds each. Contracts have also been made by this line at these rates to last until fall.

TILDEN AND HENDRICKS.

What the Former Has to Say in Reference to His Interview with the Latter at Saratoga.

The Democratic Candidates in Perfect Accord—What Hendricks Thinks of the House of Representatives.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 18.—The Daily News publishes the following interview with Governor Hendricks, with reference to the special from Saratoga to the Commercial Advertiser, New York.

Reporter—Will you indicate to the News whether or not there is any truth in the Associated Press dispatch from New York, to the effect that such differences developed between yourself and Governor Tilden, at the Saratoga conference, as to the question of the possibility of obliging you to resign Tilden or retire yourself from the ticket?

Hendricks—Really I have seen no such dispatch as you refer to. [The reporter promptly produced the telegram, and the governor, after reading it aloud, continued.] It is wholly unfounded.

Reporter—Was your conference with Mr. Tilden harmonious and satisfactory?

Mr. Hendricks—It was, of course we differed on some immaterial points, but on the real issues of the campaign we were in perfect accord. I was not a stranger to the question of the possibility of obliging you to resign Tilden or retire yourself from the ticket.

Mr. Hendricks—Most decidedly yes. [The Commercial Advertiser, referred to in the telegram, I suspect is a strongly partisan paper, which readily assumes the fabrication to which it gave publicity.]

ANOTHER INTERVIEW.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 18.—Governor Hendricks returned from the West this morning, and when approached this evening spoke freely of his eastern visit, without relating much of the details of the conference with Mr. Tilden and himself, he said Mr. Tilden had called on him at Saratoga, and they had discussed the situation at some length.

He had known the governor of New York long before, and on this occasion was confirmed in his previous estimate of him. He is a man of great nerve and decided aggressive principles. There is no authority, said Governor Hendricks, for the statement that Governor Tilden is using his influence to oppose the repeal of the resumption clause. He stands on the platform.

At the same time it is true that reform is the cry of the campaign, and that question in Mr. Tilden's mind seems to overshadow all others. In this he is only abiding by the logic of the platform, and certainly is expressing the demands of the time. That is a paramount consideration of the governor's Democracy, in answer to the question whether he had any hope of congress acting on the repeal this session, he remarked, "I have no doubt that with any other congress there would be no doubt of prompt action, but that the present session is so constituted that the committee on the subject of the resumption clause has no chance of doing anything."

Yalobush county has an Old Folks' association. The oldest man present at the recent meeting was Mr. Asa Robb, of Water Valley, being in his eighty-fifth year. His wife, Sophia, of Water Valley, was the oldest lady, being in her ninetieth year.

Baraboo Democrat: Mrs. Mary Brown has walked up to the office of the Chamberlain's office, at Pass Christian, the other day, and for over ten dollars she has been robbing a man of his money. The man is a stranger, and is now in the hands of the law.

New Albany Democrat: Rev. Juan Tarr, while plowing on his farm on the fourth, was struck by lightning, and instantly killed. He was an able young man, and a devoted preacher, and his death casts a gloom over his family.

St. Louis Star, fifteen instant: Mr. A. C. McKinnis, living above town, was on our office last Sunday two cotton bolls nearly full grown. He says that he has a bird which just like him, and he has it on the one he brought home. The bird is a crow, and it is now in the hands of the law.

Water Valley Courier: We are pleased to learn from the McComb City Intelligence that Mr. James Greener, formerly of this city, was seriously injured by the bursting of a cannon that he was bringing on the morning of the fourth.

Batesville is a pious town, for the Blade says: A revival has been going on at the Baptist church, in this place, during the week ending at the 15th inst. Mr. Tucker, Rev. Mr. King and Dr. Walne, of Vicksburg, the meeting has been a most successful one, and much interest manifested. The stores are all closed during service every day.

Water Valley Courier: We learn that on Saturday night last, a difficulty occurred between Mr. Thomas Holly and Dr. Jos. Harvey, in which the latter named George H. Bates, and shot with a pistol, the former, inflicting a wound which required medical attention. Holly made his escape and is still at large.

Kosciusko Star: Kosciusko ships about two thousand barrels of corn annually, and does a business of near one million dollars annually, and yet we have no railroad to take away from us the corn, and capacity could do a fine business here. We think Kosciusko decidedly the best point in the State for the establishment of a banking institution.

Grenada Sentinel: "Will the Democratic party please convey on the old line of State rights?" asks a Radical exchange. Will the Radical party make the canvass on the issue of centralization of power into the hands of a few men? Indeed, we said to the committee that I would not feel at liberty to answer their questions with anything but the truth.

Vicksburg Tribune: Natchez, like Vicksburg, has a large number of negroes, and there is no place where the poor negroes can find employment. The city is simply a disgraceful and inhuman, and God will never allow upon our shores a community so forgetful of its duty.

Corinth Suburban: We learned from W. L. Barrow, on Monday, that a most heart-rending incident occurred on Saturday last. A son of Mr. Carter, aged about thirteen years, was killed by being thrown from a young horse. His jaw was broken in three or four places, and he terribly cut in the head. The accident was caused by a bad dog, which chased and tried to bite the horse.

The Batesville Blade says: Wednesday last a man by the name of Bass killed another man named Privett, near Eureka, in this county. Bass has left for parts unknown. The facts in the case, as we learn them, are these: Bass had made disrespectful remarks about the wife of Mr. Walton, who, with a friend, went to the field where he was at work, and demanded that he stop. Bass denied having made the remarks, and a fight followed, in which Bass was the victor.

so, requested Walton and his friend to go to his house with him, as he wished to make some preparation before going. Bass went into his house, and soon came out with a pistol in his hand, with which he shot at Walton, the bullet passing through the clothes without starting him. Bass then turned, and Mr. Privett dead, and made his escape.

Kosciusko Star: Goodman correspondent: Sim Clark, who killed Mr. William Foy in this town in December, 1875, was arrested by Saturday morning, and is now in the custody of the sheriff. He was conveyed to Lexington, and delivered to the sheriff.

Vicksburg Herald, 16th: A man, whose name we did not learn, is reported to have been found dead in the woods on Yarrow river, day before yesterday. It appears that the man had married a widow of that neighborhood some time ago and had a step daughter about fifteen or sixteen years old, and this young girl, it was discovered a few days ago, was taken out of the house on the premises of an old negro, and assaulting him with bricks.

Grenada and a Centennial party and fifty boys were arrested in Meridian a few days ago for trespassing on the premises of an old negro, and assaulting him with bricks.

Oxford Falcon: Vindex, of Panola county, is pulling G. W. Wells in the Jackson Times. He thinks G. W. Vindex is the man to beat Manning. Vindex is mistaken. G. W. Vindex can't lose.

Corinth Suburban: We regret to learn that a citizen of Batesville—we did not learn the name—looked a day of typhoid fever, thinking it was quinine, one day in the country, from the effects of which he died.

E. W. Henderson, of Panola county, publishes a letter in the Star, in which he says that his name was used on the Republican executive committee without his knowledge, consent or approval.

Vicksburg Tribune: R. H. Henry, of the Vicksburg Ledger, is one of the best fellows in the world; but he writes a hand by the side of the hierarchy of Greeley or Blois would be considered plain text.

Holly Springs Reporter: Mr. N. H. McComb, of the Red Banks neighborhood, has a herd of about one hundred and fifty sheep, and is doing a fine business in raising sheep and cows than any other in the county.

Says the Columbus Democrat: Robert Gleed, late negro senator from this district, has, we learn, announced his determination to act with the Democratic party in the coming election. He is a man of great nerve and decided aggressive principles. There is no authority, said Governor Hendricks, for the statement that Governor Tilden is using his influence to oppose the repeal of the resumption clause. He stands on the platform.

MISSISSIPPI NEWS.

Water Valley has a chicken ranch containing two hundred fowls.

Carl Larson, aged fifteen, was drowned at Water Valley a few days ago.

Seven convicts recently escaped from the State prison, and were recaptured. George Duke killed a man named Bolton, in a difficulty, a few days ago, at Pontotoc.

Kate Simpson is the name of a Batesville farmer, but he's a man, and is just as atrocious.